Description
Since Chrome 37, the popup window method no longer works. It does still work in IE 11.

The same issue seems to be described here and may provide clues:

Love worktime, and hope to have it still work in Chrome!

Thanks.

Thank you for your report.
I will consider how to respond.

Just some updates, as we searched for a workaround.

1. Firefox 32 (latest) works properly.
2. IE 11 works sometimes (occasionally opens a blank popup window)

Please note that our test case is ONLY the 'add ticket' button in Worktime.
Thanks.

The issue is due to Chrome 37 stopping to include showModalDialog() in its javascript engine.
You will find a patch attached with a way to fix the issue. It is not very elegant, as I had to work around the fact that the replacement function is not modal (asynchronous call) and therefore we need to split the functions in 2 : one part before the popup, and a second part executed after.

Thank you very much for your report and especially patches.
I was considered variety,
The Ajax was desirable for usability of the future, maybe.

If you are available, please try following alpha version.

It seems to work fine (tested only adding an issue and changing completion percentage). I tested on RM 2.5.2.
By the way, completion percentages are clickable even though Redmine's option is set to follow issues statuses (in that case, changing the value has no effect). It might make sense not to show a link if Issue.use_status_for_done_ratio? is true.

Certainly.

I modified at commit:8a1ae34

Thanks again!
